Cattle Council of Australia welcomes new NFF President

The Cattle Council of Australia (CCA) has welcomed the election of David Crombie as the new President of the National Farmers' Federation (NFF).

Announced at the NFF Policy Council Meeting in Canberra this morning, CCA President, Bill Bray, said the Cattle Council has always had an unwavering commitment to the NFF and look forward to continuing this under David's leadership.

"David is very well known to the Council, having worked closely with him during his eight years as Chairman of Meat and Livestock Australia (MLA)," Mr Bray said.

"With 30 years commercial and representational experience in agriculture, David certainly brings a wealth of knowledge to the NFF.

"David's exhaustive experience will hold him in good stead for the challenges that will lie ahead while at the helm of the NFF, and there is no doubt in my mind that he will do an exceptional job.

"On behalf of the Cattle Council, I would like to congratulate David and we look forward to working with him again.

"The Cattle Council would also like to bid farewell to outgoing President, Peter Corish, and we wish him well in his future endeavours."

In other election results, Charles Burke was re-elected NFF Vice President and Cattle Council representative, Nick Keatinge, was elected as Treasurer. Peter Kenny, Jock Laurie, Simon Ramsay, and the Cattle Council's own, Bill Bray, were elected to sit on the NFF Board.
